It is a pleasure to share the 2014-2015 Fiscal Year Summary. More than 3,200 alumni, parents, and friends made Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority last year. These gifts supported our distinguished faculty, provided invaluable financial aid for our students, advanced our academic programs, and helped expand our reach around the globe.

Continued generosity of our alumni and friends allows us to attract a new generation of elite scholars and teachers. Over the last three years, we have hired 14 new faculty members. Each of them comes to us with deep expertise and a commitment to teaching and mentoring our students. Collectively, they represent the future of teaching at Stanford, and in legal education, and build on the strength of our faculty.

Philanthropic support also provides new ways to enrich our curriculum. Students at SLS today take advantage of our world-class clinics, interdisciplinary policy practicums, and new classes focused on the global practice of law. Our Global Law Initiative includes a new, foundational course on global legal practice, intensive overseas studies trips, and further integration of transnational law into core courses.

None of this would be possible without our alumni and friends. Thanks to philanthropic support, we are also able to make a Stanford Law School education available to all qualified students, regardless of their financial need. Our generous financial aid assures that we attract the very best students to Stanford, and they help make us who we are.

Thank you for your confidence in and dedication to Stanford Law School.

Sincerely,

M. Elizabeth Magill
Richard E. Lang Professor of Law and Dean
Financial Overview

Gifts from alumni, parents, and friends provide a critical source of income each year for Stanford Law School. These gifts make it possible to support innovative teaching and research, robust financial aid programs, new curricular initiatives, student services, and operations at the school.

I give because Stanford Law School has opened doors for me and has given me the confidence and the credibility to take on whatever legal or professional challenge has come my way. My Stanford Law degree is the gift that keeps on giving. I am proud every day to be a Stanford lawyer, and I have been so for 40 years. That’s why I give.”
Fred W. Alvarez
BA ’72, JD ’75

Total Dollars Raised

$23,875,798*

Total Law School Budget

$78,835,698

* This figure includes both outright gifts and multi-year pledges committed during fiscal year 2015. Accordingly, “Total Dollars Raised” ($23,875,798) will be more than “Gifts & Grants” ($12,859,294) since the latter reflects only contributions used in fiscal year 2015.

“I never thought I’d have such organic relationships with professors, not because of any savant-like capabilities or ambition to build my network but simply because they are wonderful people who care about their students. Giving back ensures Stanford can continue to give its students a uniquely wonderful beginning to their legal careers.”
Amari Hammonds
JD ’17
The Law Fund

Launch New Programs
The Law Fund provides seed funding to position the school to be on the forefront of legal education.

Provide Financial Aid
A strong financial aid program makes it possible for our talented students to receive an SLS education.

Enhance Experiential Learning
SLS students have the opportunity for hands-on learning through clinics and the Policy Lab.

Recruit and Retain Top Faculty
Our diverse and talented faculty defines Stanford as a leader in legal education.

Strengthen the Student Experience
The student experience, both inside and outside of the classroom, is enhanced through your support.

You help us:
- SLS organized 148 alumni programs across 29 markets in 10 countries on 4 continents
- 174 alumni and friends allowed students to participate in more than 20 policymaking practicums
- The average gift made to the Law Fund was $1,658
- Gifts of $100 or less totaled $52,341
- 80% of students received financial aid
- 3,262 donors contributed to SLS

The collective support of donors each year gives Stanford Law School the ability to meet its most pressing needs. Unrestricted gifts to the Law Fund, in particular, also give the school the agility to seize new opportunities. You help us.

Total Law Fund dollars raised in fiscal year 2015

$4.4 million

"I make Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority because I had an amazing three years at the school. I want to help ensure that students today can have the same level of opportunity, support, and experiences that I had."

Yina Dong
JD ‘10

"I make Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority because I had an amazing three years at the school. I want to help ensure that students today can have the same level of opportunity, support, and experiences that I had."

Yina Dong
JD ‘10

"I make Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority because I had an amazing three years at the school. I want to help ensure that students today can have the same level of opportunity, support, and experiences that I had."

Yina Dong
JD ‘10

"I make Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority because I had an amazing three years at the school. I want to help ensure that students today can have the same level of opportunity, support, and experiences that I had."

Yina Dong
JD ‘10

"I make Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority because I had an amazing three years at the school. I want to help ensure that students today can have the same level of opportunity, support, and experiences that I had."

Yina Dong
JD ‘10

"I make Stanford Law School a philanthropic priority because I had an amazing three years at the school. I want to help ensure that students today can have the same level of opportunity, support, and experiences that I had."

Yina Dong
JD ‘10
“I've benefited from the law school’s generous alumni and friends, both as a student and now as a faculty member. What was already an excellent legal education is now even more dynamic, drawing upon a wide array of interdisciplinary programs, hands-on experiential learning through the clinics and policy lab, and a more globally focused curriculum. But what continues to set SLS apart is a deep commitment to innovative teaching and research. I count myself lucky to be a part of this faculty and to have the opportunity to interact with such amazing students.”

Nora Freeman Engstrom
JD '02
Professor of Law and
Deane F. Johnson Faculty Scholar